DEVIL - GOAT RALLY TONIGHT!

Musicians Will Perform In Concert Sat.

Kryl Widely Acclaimed
Will Appear At College

A man of wide acclaim, great musical technique and innate genius is Bohumir Kryl. His organization is composed, likewise, of brilliant artists such as Dorothy Dickerson, famous international coloratura soprano; Florian Zobach, one of the youngest violinists to gain fame in our day; Burtis Preston, possessing a magnetic baritone voice; Barbara LeBrun, sensational harpist, and many other leading artists.

When headlines proclaim such outstanding statements as did the New York times:

"Kryl is complete master of the difficult instrument, and conductor of a great organization."

Washington Post:

"The effect of his playing was excellent."

Los Angeles Times:

"The most remarkable cornetist in the world."

We music-loving public fully appreciate an opportunity to hear such truly splendid concerts.

During a period of thirty-three consecutive seasons, more than twelve thousand concerts have been enjoyed by music-lovers within an area of over a million miles. Now again, as in the session of 1935-36, the students of Mary Washington College are given the privilege of receiving him as enthusiastically as on his former visit. Weather permitting he will appear in the open-air theater at 2:00 P. M., otherwise there will be two performances in the auditorium, one at 2:00 P. M., the other at 3:15 P. M.

V. P. I. A. Convenes Here This Month

Thomas Lomax Hunter
Will Address Meeting

The Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association will hold its annual meeting at Mary Washington College on October 28th and 29th. Registration will take place from 11:30 until 1:00 with the session opening at 2:30 on Friday the 28th.

The following committees have been organized:

Registration: Juanita Carpenter, chairman; Frances Brooks, Elizabeth Bodwell, Katherine Roberts, Georgianna Woodhouse and Elizabeth Dinges.

Entertainment: Mildred Powell, Mary Williamson Bowles and Jo Lee Fleet.

Program: Eloise Caverlee, Ruth Anderson and Jane Adams.

Round Table: Virginia Dickinson, Miriam Carpenter, Maude Brown and Mary Lou Monroe.

Outstanding speakers for the event will be: Dr. Churchill, rector of St. James Church in Richmond, who will deliver an address at the banquet on Friday night; and Mr. Thomas Lomax Hunter, well known for his column in the Richmond Times-Dispatch, "As It Appears to the Cavalier."

At its meeting last year in Lexington the following executive committee was elected: Jane Sinclair, of Mary Washington, President; Helen Miller, of American University, and William Moore, of the University of Virginia, vice-presidents; Doris O'Brian, of Mary Washington College, secretary, and Alexander Hudgins, of Blackstone, executive secretary.

Originated In 1928

The Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, originated in 1928, is composed of the editors of all college publications in the state of Virginia, and has as its purpose the furthering of constructive competition among the schools. Last year the "Battlefield" at Mary Washington won second place in class B annuals, and the Bulletin second place in class C newspapers.

Among those colleges represented this year will be: American University, Washington and Lee University, Virginia Military Institute, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Randolph Macon College, Lynchburg College, Hampden Sidney, Bridgewater, University of Virginia, Roanoke College, University of Richmond, Hollins College, Stratford College, Mary Baldwin College, William and Mary, Fairfax Hall, Sullins College, Randolph Macon Women's College and Sweet Briar.

1939 Battlefield Staff Selected Has Several Old Members

At the first meeting of the 38-39 Battlefield editorial staff on October 4, the following list was stated: Editor: Jane Sinclair.

Assistant Editors: Mary Williamson Bowles and Audrey Wood. Literary Staff: Almeda Hill, Elhonor Overley and Doris Jean Snow.

Athletic Editor: Margaret Thompson.

Organization Editor: Isabelle Dickinson.

Art Editor: Ruth Anderson.

Business Manager: Juanita Carpenter.

Assistant Business Manager: Katherine Roberts.

Advertisement Managers: Eloise Caverlee, Eulalia Bowling, Miriam Parcell and Anne Hayes.

The personnel of the year book, though cut considerably this year, consists of several members from last year's staff. Among them are: Jane Sinclair, last year's editor; Elhonor Overley, Ruth Anderson, Juanita Carpenter, Eloise Caverlee and Eulalia Bowling.

The editor of the Battlefield urges all presidents to organize their clubs at once in order that arrangements may be made for club representation in the annual.

So It's Goats Vs. Devils

Just after you've been entered here in the fall,

You'll be heralded and welcomed by a tribal call,

Either Devil or Goat as the case may be

And expected to support it with loyalty.

There's a year of frolic in store for all

With high tensioned rivalry that's almost a brawl,

You live it you breathe it from morning 'till night

At the merest mention you're ready to fight.

The queerest, the dumbest, the funniest heck

That ever dared cross a collegiate's track

What with rope pulling tryouts and pie eating jogs

N'bon fires n'dog roasts and searches for frogs.

The emblems of green goats and devils of red

Are sported by students—even to bed,

And Freshies and Juniors join hands this year

To battle the others in will and good cheer

Each grips at its aim like a terror pup

For the winners are decreed one beautiful cup—

So come on chillun there's work to be done

Be set—take your places, get ready for fun!!!!

Jeanne and "Steve" Lead Their Respective Groups In Annual Battle Of Song and Dance

Snake Dancing, Singing and Shouting Will Proceed The Contest That Will Decide Which
Of The Two Groups Will Hide The Flag.

Constitution Of Dramatic Club Is Changed

The constitution of the Dramatic Club has undergone a drastic change which will affect all those interested in becoming members.

In the future only Mary Washington players will be eligible for roles in productions.

Formerly, to become a member of the club a student was required to give a creditable performance in one major production.

Under the new revision in the constitution aspirant players will go through a series of try-outs. Script will be given out and preliminaries held shortly afterward at which time a committee composed of Miriam Carpenter, Frances Brooks, Carroll Jordan, Lee Wingate Keith and Leighton Stevens will choose those who show the most dramatic talent.

Those chosen will then have the opportunity to participate in a one act play. After this step is accomplished they will be apprentice players of the club.

The final step for membership will be taking part in a three act play, after which the neophyte will be a full-fledged member of the Mary Washington Players.

For further announcements concerning try-outs consult the bulletin boards early next week.

Y. W. C. A. Sponsors Christmas Card Sale

The Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring the sale of Christmas cards in each dormitory. This is a new project undertaken by the Cabinet in an attempt to increase finances.

The cards are beautiful and gay in a multitude of colors and extend greetings for a joyous Christmas time that will be welcomed by all your friends. You may have any name engraved on the card that you desire and at no extra cost.

The prices of these Christmas cards are very reasonable and now is the time to buy. In Frances Willard, place your order with Mary Eates; in Betty Lewis with Carol Jordan; in Custis, with Marguerite Jennings; and in Mary Ball, with Betty Garden.

If you're not on the central campus tonight promptly at the hour of seven, you'd better be in the infirmary or in some such place, for tonight is Devil-Goat Night, the one night in all the year when Devils and Goats meet with their respective leaders and join in song and merriment.

School spirit reigns supreme on Devil-Goat nights. It's a custom handed down from Devils to Devils and Goats to Goats. It doesn't make any difference whether you're an accomplished singer or a monotone, you'll have fun and excitement a plenty.

After the snake dance, all students will go to the gymnasium for the real "clash"—the Devil-Goat Contest. The winners of the contest hide the flag whereas it is the lot of the losers to find it.

The contest for the honor of hiding the flag is one of the most exciting events of the year.

M. W. C. Continues Growth

The city of Fredericksburg has just given the college a piece of land adjoining the south end of the campus. The land varies in width from 40 feet to 34 feet and is 494 feet long.

This is the second strip of land given the college by the city, the first having been donated during 1933. These two valuable additions will make possible the completion of the landscaping program including a new administration building and dormitory.

Within the next several days, the post office will be combined with the book store in the basement of Chandler Hall. Under the supervision of Mrs. Earl G. Nicka, wife of the new Commercial instructor, these will soon be open eight hours each day.

Miss Hermine Haye, instructor in Commercial Education, has joined the Commercial Department of the college. Miss Haye received her A. B. degree at Hastings College in Hastings, Nebraska, and her M. A. degree at the Commerce College at the University of Iowa.

Before coming here, Miss Haye was head of the Commercial Department of the MacComb High School at MacComb, Illinois.

DEVIL GOAT RALLY

Tonight on the athletic field there is going to be a rally. This rally, important as it is in itself, is important for another reason. It will classify the student body.

School spirit is an old subject. It has been done and over done in editorials. I am not going to attempt to write a discourse on it. I merely want to point out that the success or failure of the rally which is being held tonight will mark the student body as school spirited or non school spirited.

You came to college not only to gain book knowledge, you came for college life. This cannot be obtained sitting in your room. You have got to get out and mingle with the crowd to obtain the most valuable part of your college life. Tonight you have a chance to act collegiate—to sing and laugh and shout and clapp. Perhaps if you stay away you will get a little ironing done or catch up on a bit of work that you've let slip, but you will also lose out on one of the big events of the year.

It's fun. It's something different. It's something no college girl can miss and really be a college girl. Now how about supporting this affair 100 per cent. You'll get twice as much out of it as you put in.

MARY WASHINGTON PEP SONG

(To the tune of Vagabond Song)

By Dot Brent and Ruth Anderson
M. W. C. we love you,
Love that spirit of you
Hail to Alma Mater dear;
We stand one together,
And all troubles weather,
Of our foes we have no fear.

We are marching toward our destiny,
Onward, onward, ahead our goal we see.

When we reach our day,
Of success we'll say,
Hail to Alma Mater, hail!

TOWN GIRL GAB

A party, a party—who had a party—Why the Town Gals, of course, . . . to initiate the new additions to the family and to amuse and keep the old ones quiet . . . As with all good and successful parties, this one got off to an elegant start—five times as many people came as signed up . . . Quintuplets, no doubt . . . which has nothing to do with the subject anyhow . . . It's a big job trying to do justice to a party when it was impossible for you to attend . . . So bear with me and I'll try to give you a rough idea of what happened. . . As a part of initiation, the poor gals had to be led blindfolded up the hill (to the Cabin, dears) down and around and places . . . During the evening, they were required to Praise Allah! to old timers . . . Course, they just ate that up, lock, stock and barrel . . . or is it hook, line and sinker? which reminds me that sinkers (donuts to you!) we are around in gobs and so were the drinks (only Coca-Colas tho (don't get excited!) Deah, almost forgot the biggest point . . . It was a Campfire party and you know already how marshmallows do go along with a fire. . .

There being no more news, we'll close shop for today . . . Why even the Grocery Stores close one-half day on Wednesday . . . Why shouldn't we . . . ? ? ?

How To Bake A Cake

"Good morning, my lovers of good food. This is your recipe expert, Jean of the Slo-Poison Biscuit Company, talking to you. You all know that the nearest way to a man's heart is through his stomach, and the nearest way to his stomach is through the use of a stomach pump. . . I mean delicious food. And so today, I'm going to tell you how to make all his favorite pies at once which will give you Jean's own Long Short Huckleberry Apple Lemon Meringue Chocolate Layer Sponge Cake Biscuit.

"First take a large soup spoon. Then take two stewed prunes and crush them gently into a pot; remember I said gently, because stewed prunes have just as much feeling as do sober ones. Now blacken the whites of two eggs, and mix it with a tea-spoon. Then open your mouth and say 'ahhhh!' five times, stir all the ingredients three times to the left and four times to the right until it comes to a complete standstill. Now read a couple of chapters on 'How To Influence People and Make New Friends', (maybe . . .

"Take two spoons sugar; if you don't have sugar, use salt . . . it's the same color . . . Now take two steps backwards, one step forwards and what have you got? The Big Apple! Go to the window and call your neighbor. After you get through lying to her about how influential your boy-friend or husband is, stay away from starchy food and take a look at your pot.

"To make sure if it is ready call in your worst enemy and ask her to taste it. If she is still standing up after one sip, knock her down and take one bowl of rice to give it the finishing touch.

"Now we come to the most important part of the baking. After everything boils for two hours Eastern Daylight Saving Time, turn back the clock one hour, and boil slowly for twenty minutes. The minute the cake begins to rise, see the bet and go it ter better. As soon as you think the cake is finished, open the kitchen window very wide and take the cake, biscuit or pie, out of the oven, take a good run, and see how far you can throw it from the window.

KEYHOLE KOMMENTS

Flash!!!! Betty Cooke seems to be losing out as far as Phil Leary is concerned. Kitty's even gotten around to meeting his family. Betty doesn't seem to mind because there's that new interest in Washington.

What ends these Freshmen will go to to get to University. How about that, Doris Lushbaugh?

It didn't take Gretchen, Kathryn and Alice long to get bids to ring dances at V. P. J. One football game did the trick.

Connie Rollins seemed very anxious to wear her Angora sweater last Sunday. When everyone seemed worried about Warren, she said it would rub off easily.

"Monkey" Bruce seems quite thrilled over the dances at V. P. J. this week-end. There's nothing like being a home-town girl, is there?

We hear Rose Davis might let a term paper stand between her and a good time this week-end. That would be a shame after Ed comes all the way from Norfolk.

It seems that Kay R. and Lee have the real thing. Did you hear about his driving all the way from Washington last week just to tell her goodnight after her first date left?

Rosalie Johnson is heading for a predicament or something. Two of her current interests will probably arrive at the same time Sunday, and you never can tell when her friend from Culpeper will drop in. Better watch your step, Andy.

Can't you tell the days when Steve gets a letter from Gordon? Ste beams all day long.

No matter if Alvin is broke—Connie can always pack a lunch and go on a picnic in—sorry, Connie, I almost let the cat out of the bag.

I surely am glad so many people are pulling out of here this week-end. Maybe I'll have some real news by next week.

NIGHTIE NITE

Well take your shower I took mine—

Nobody's down there and the water's fine
It's been boiled so long it's nearly pink
And I scrubbed myself 'till I thought I'd shrink.

But you're so clean you don't need a bath
Well pardon me while I have a laugh,
You better take it now or boy you'll pay

It's one heck of a wait 'till Saturday.

Where'd you put my English book? ? ?

You!! sitting there with the innocent look!

Oh!! you only loaned it to Joan on the third

We'll hurry and get it or do we need to be spurred?????

Gosh! can you imagine a trick like that

She gives 'em my books and leaves me flat??!

I'll rack my brain and still lack sense.

They always give you the same old line

Study, study, study all the time—

If you do it your societies' all a bunk

Skip it! you're canned on account of you flunk—

Where's the ink this pen's a fluke

I simply must tell you 'bout that boy from Duke

As I live and breathe where's my soap,

And my turkish towel with edge of blue,

Holy nite she took that too!!!!!!

Five more minutes n' the lights'll be out

If I'm left with this hair—so help me I'll shout—

I owe six letters and I'm dead for sleep

It's a cinch in this place you can't count sheep.

But honestly gosh! I've got more work—

In High School I would but here you can't shirk??!

My clothes need fixin' my brain's in the rough?????

But the mixup is great and I love all this stuff,

Cut it kids! We'll get called for the noise—

If I don't get some sleep I'll lose all my poise?!

Rouse me for breakfast if you have to fight—

Until eggs in the morning sweet dreams and good nite.

Glenn Powers is going to visit friends in Washington and see the pro-football game. Most of us are satisfied with college boys.

Margaret McCullach is going to take all her "coveted cuts" and go home this week. Just between you and me—for more reasons than one.

Liz Hall is going to V. P. I. for openings this week-end.

Lee Wingate Kieth is going to Richmond to her first football game as you would think to hear her talk about it.

The Bullet is certainly going social—Had to choose a committee to take care of their engagements. Chairman—Janet Patterson, her staff—Maude Brown, Nancy Mosely, Winnie Hudson, Janet M. Woods, Jo Lee Fleet.

Sue Morris is spending the week end in Roanoke.

Jean McCaffrey is pushing off for home this week-end. Phoebe in case you didn't know.

Kitty Meek is going to Washington for the week-end.

That cut freshman, Billie LaZel, is going home to Hampton for the week-end.

"Monkey" Bruce is trucking off to the V. P. I. openings this week end.

Mary Williamson Bowles and Jane Sinclair will leave this week end to attend the wedding of an alumnus of old M. W. C.—Joyce Anderson.

Jean Ivory will spend the week end in Dumfries.

Welcome To Mr. Miller, New Member Of M. W. C. Commercial Staff

We are glad to welcome Mr. Fred E. Miller, a new member of the Commercial staff, to Mary Washington College. Mr. Miller comes to the campus from "way out West" but he was born in Mt. Erie, a small town in southeastern Illinois (even Mr. Miller himself, doesn't know exactly where it is).

Having been graduated from the high school of Sugar City, Colorado Mr. Miller attended Colorado State College of Education where he was very active in athletics and dramatics. During his college years he did actual accounting practice and was assistant to the Dean of Men. Mr. Miller was a member of the Phi Delta Kappa, an honorary education fraternity for men, as well as the Zeta Chapter of the Pi Omega Pi of which he was the president. (A fraternity brother of Mr. Miller's is Mr. Nick; who, after attending the same college, is now also a member of M. W. C.'s Commercial staff.)

After receiving his A. B. degree Mr. Miller taught for six years in Cody, Wyoming, near the entrance to Yellowstone National Park. In 1937 Mr. Miller received the A. M. degree from his Alma Mater.

The historical surroundings of Fredericksburg will afford Mr. Miller a great deal of pleasure for history is one of his chief interests. This is the first time that Mr. and Mrs. (there is one, you see) Miller have been East. They are much impressed by the scenic beauty as well as the hospitality of Virginia. They are living at 1422 Franklin Street in Fredericksburg.

Alphe Tau Pi Holds First Meeting

Alphe Tau Pi, national professional sorority in elementary education held its first regular meeting of the year Thursday, Oct. 20, in the club room. The sorority was honored by the presence of Miss Sue Ayres, supervisor of elementary education in Prince William County, who has long been outstanding in the field of education. Miss Ayres was on a tour in Nova Scotia this summer in the interest of education.

Jo Lee Fleet and Jan Day were initiated into this sorority on Oct. 19. These two members were also present at this meeting.

Credit Given For Riding

This year riding is being introduced as a course in Physical Education. Periods of two hours a day twice a week are used for the riding classes. All students taking riding twice a week will be given one credit in Physical Education.

The new instructor, Miss Connie Moore, is taking the place vacated by Miss Louise Walraven. Miss Moore had charge of the stables last year and is a very experienced rider, having been in many horse shows. The stables at Battlefield National Park have aided several new horses this year. The riding students will use the bridge paths which are located in the park.

Mr. Nicks and Mr. Miller Are Former Members of Pi Omega Pi

Pi Omega Pi, national honorary fraternity for Commercial teachers, held its first regular meeting on Tuesday night, at 7 o'clock, in the Student Activities room. The meeting was presided over by the president, Nadora Forbush.

Pi Omega Pi is happy to have with them this year two new faculty members of the Commercial department, Mr. Nicks and Mr. Miller, who were formerly members of the Zeta Chapter of Pi Omega Pi at Greeley, Colorado.

Various committees were elected: Social Committee, chairman, Ruth Curry; Membership Committee, Virginia Dickinson and Katie Key; Reporter, Juanita Carpenter. Plans for sponsoring a convocation program and a state-commercial contest were discussed.

HOCKEY AND SOCCER TAKE LIMELIGHT THIS COMING WEEK

The old game of soccer is soon to make its appearance in the fall season of sports. Within the next week we will have organized a number of soccer teams and launched forth on a tournament. The teams will be formed by games classes, soccer classes and any individual teams desiring to play. The tournament games will be played off during the eighth hour. These games can be played only with the support and cooperation of the students. Watch the bulletin board for further notices.

Although soccer's debut was an important feature of the week, hockey still holds its place in the limelight. Plans for the Hockey Conference are well under way. Helen Hyde, chairman, reports that inquiries have been sent to various colleges in the state to find out which schools are planning to send teams to represent them. During their brief visit here these girls will be housed in Madison Hall.

Class teams are steadily readying themselves for the class games. Elizabeth Denger is the manager of the Senior team, while Ellen Baab is the captain. The Juniors chose Jo Inskeep as their manager and Ann Smith as their captain. Peggy Thompson and Marlon Otis head the Sophomore team as manager and captain respectively, while the leaders of the Freshmen is Mildred McPherson, manager. The captain has not yet been chosen.

Helen announces the hockey schedule for the current season. All games will be played promptly at 4 o'clock.

Thursday, October 20, Sr.-Soph.
Tuesday, October 25, Jr.-Fresh.
Thursday, October 27, Jr.-Soph.
Friday and Saturday, November 4 and 5, Conference.
Tuesday November 8 Soph.-Fresh
Thursday, November 10, Sr.-Jr.
Thursday, November 17, Devil-Goat.

Our Petty Problems

Coffiures Go Up and Down

Campus coiffures are like so many see-saws. First they are up and then they are down. Our first week here was almost convincing proof that the up-swept hair-do was THE thing—but the law of gravity got the best of us and our patience and it looks like we're letting our hair down with a sigh of relief.

At first, the perfectly groomed and swirled top-knots are a thing of beauty but not a joy forever. After a sleepless night on curlers, hairpins and such, the "perfectly groomed" look does a disappearing act and reappears resembling a worn-out dish mop. Of course, you can sit up all night or sleep with your head hanging over the side of the bed like the first night at sea but your beaming good spirits suffer a severe blow in the morning.

Some clever soul once remarked that there was a time and place for everything—and that goes for hair styles. It may be very becoming to you to wear your hair pulled in ringlets on the top of your worthy heads—so save this helpful bit of information until you can complement your hair with the proper costume and not sweaters and skirts. The flowing evening gown is the only perfect partner to the upsweped coiffure.

So, girls, how about letting your hair down until some Big Moment—but don't forget you can still scrub behind your ears!

College Orchestra Scheduled To Play For Stage Door

The orchestra, which consists of 30 members under the direction of Mr. Ronald Faulcner, is scheduled to furnish the music for "Stage Door" and also for the October 28 convocation program.

The personnel is as follows:

Violin: Lillian Coddington, Eva Catafygiotu, Myrtis Hall, Louise Mayes, Kathryn Wygal, Elizabeth DuPre, Mary Alice Parker, Carol Jordan, Ruth Dozier and Judah Spinner.

Viola: June Stoll.

Cello: Barbara Gaines, Betty Parlin, Kathryn Nelson and Helen Hyde.

Bass: Addie Lee Barrett and Betty Simmons.

Flute: Norella Giffen.

Clarinet: Martha Jean Bruch, Elizabeth Barker and Elizabeth Middleton.

Trumpet: Jane Leatherbee and Olga Valiska.
